

Community Based Tourism and Poverty Alleviation in Sri Lanka: With Special Reference to Monaragala District

This dissertation is submitted as a partial fulfillment of degree of Bachelor of Business Management in Hospitality, Tourism and Event Management

November, 2017

E.A.S.I. Samarasekara

UWU/EX/13/0302

Department of Public Administration

ABSTRACT

Tourism can make a significant impact on rural communities as the customer comes to the facility or product creating a room for direct selling/engagement for the host communities. Accordingly community based tourism emerged as a possible solution to the mass tourism in developing countries, which thus became a strategy for community organization in order to alleviate poverty. Therefore, this research exploited the opportunities for poverty alleviation through Community Based Tourism in Monaragala district and identified the most influencing challenges for Community Based Tourism. The research adopted the quantitative approach to data analysis, especially using multiple regression analysis. The primary data were gathered by using a self-completion questionnaire. The Sample consisted of 60 respondents who are engaged in Community Based Tourism and 60 respondents who are not engaged in Community Based Tourism. The major objective of the study is to identify the potentials for poverty alleviation through Community Based Tourism in Monaragala district. The results of the analysis indicate that, there is a higher potential for poverty alleviation through Community Based Tourism. The second objective of the study aimed at identifying the most influencing challenges for CBT. The study found that lack of training, lack of e-commerce, lack of skillful employees as the major challenges in developing community based tourism in Monaragala district.

Keywords – Community Based Tourism, Poverty, Poverty Alleviation